1

Insert top handguard (B) into bottom (C) handguard until firmly seated on both ends.

2

Insert short screw to bottom of barrel where the holes align.

3

Push rod through holes in the barrel (L). To get rod flush, you may need to apply force by pushing rod against a solid surface.

4

Attach muzzle (D) by threading onto the end of barrel.

5

Screw the two medium-length screws into bottom of receiver to secure barrel in place.

6

Insert charging handle (A) into receiver (G), handle facing right side. Slide spring [1] onto bolt carrier (E). Insert combined bolt carrier and spring into charging handle, align in rear grooves of receiver (G).

7

Place dust cover (F) over the charging handle (A) by placing the front of the cover forward and push down until it rests in the groove in stock.

8

Attach the stock (J) and tighten top and bottom with the two large screws.

9

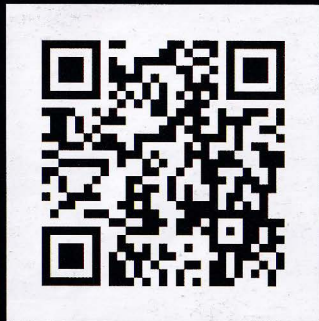

Load non-firing rounds into the magazine (H). Slide magazine in until it clicks into place. Show off your GoatGun on display stand.
